Agios Georgios Church, Klimenti

The Church of Agios Georgios lies in Klimenti, one of the oldest and highest villages of Corinthia, built on the eastern slopes of Mount Zireia at around 960 metres. A landmark for the small community and for visitors who climb up into its cool, wooded landscape, the church sits amid pines and mountain stillness. It makes a peaceful stop on any excursion into the highlands, where the fresh air and forest scenery are as much the draw as the village itself.
