Public Library of Sikyona

In the heart of Kiato, in the renovated building of the former ASO factory, stands the Public Library of Sikyona. With roots going back to 1961 and reopened in a modern two-storey home in 2023, it holds over 6,000 titles spanning literature, history, philosophy and children's books, with dedicated children's and local-history sections. More than a lending library and reading room, it is a lively cultural hub for the town, hosting events and activities for all ages.
